AUMUA AMATA JPS FOOTBALL CLASSIC 2018

American Samoa's All-Star Football Team — READY TO WIN!

IT'S BY FAR THE MOST TALENTED GROUP TO COMPETE IN THE CLASSIC

by T. Gasu

Samoa News Sports Correspondent

The American Samoa High School All-Star Football Team is looking to make their second appearance in the Junior Prep Sports (JPS) Paradise Football Classic III that will officially open next week Monday, January 8, 2018 – with the opening ceremony scheduled at Bladesdale Convention Center in Hawai'i.

Some members of the All-Star teams, like the Girls All-Star Volleyball Team and Head Coach Lydia Faleafine Nomura, as well as some of the Division I All-Star Football Team have already departed, while others such as Head Coach Taveuveu Kolose Ili and the American Samoa High School All-Star Football Team are scheduled to depart the territory tomorrow night for Hawai'i.

Coverage of the American Samoa All-Star Football Team is proudly sponsored and brought to you by Congresswoman Aumua Amata.

Team Amerika Samoa who consists of 14 players from Samoana High School, 14 players from Tafuna High School, 9 players from Faga'itua High School, 6 players from Leone High School, and 4 players from the Nu'uuli Wildcats program – were selected by the American Samoa High School Athletics Association (ASHSAA) according to Head Coach Ili. "ASHSAA came up with the selection process, and I think halfway through the season, they based a number of players through the schools, at the time."

(Samoa News notes that SHS is the current reigning champions of the ASHSAA Football League, while THS is who played against Samoana in the championship game.)

As of their preparations heading up to the JPS Paradise Football Classic III, Head Coach Taveuveu told Samoa News, "It's been positive, the kids we have this year are very talented ... there's definitely been an upgrade. We've got some very athletic kids, so it sort of made everything easier this year for the coaches to mold the talent and putting everything together as far as game planning is concerned."

He continued, "So it's been very uplifting, very positive, it's the holidays so the kids are also feeling that spirit – we have a very good team this year."

This year is also the first year that the All-Star invitation has opened up to the Juniors in ASHSAA Football, which has secured the talent in team American Samoa, according to Head Coach Taveuveu. "If you base the team on just Seniors, you're definitely not basing on talent alone, your basing on the status of the players as far as classes are concerned."

Taveuveu added, "Last year we took some players that were Seniors, but they weren't as good as far as the underclassmen at the same position – so this year all of these kids are ASHSAA All-Stars regardless of their status. These kids were also not only hand picked by their respective coaches, but were also recommended by all the coaches on other teams."

He said of the bonding needed to make it 'one team', "As coaches, we made it a col-

Steelers standout O-line a tribute to Munchak's approach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mike Munchak doesn't live in a bubble.

If anything, he makes it a point to avoid it. So do the players he mentors as the offensive line coach for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

So when the Hall of Famer's name popped up as a candidate for the open head coaching job in Arizona this week, Munchak didn't ignore the elephant in the room.

Neither did his guys. "We told him to enjoy the West Coast," Chris Hubbard said with a laugh. "Enjoy being out there closer to your daughter."

Hubbard was kidding. For now anyway. Just because the AFC North champions have given the Cardinals permission to interview Munchak doesn't mean he's going to get the job.

Then again, if Munchak needs a reference or two, he won't lack for volunteers.

Look no further than the group Munchak has helped turn into one of the best offensive lines in the league, one bent on making sure their mentor will have to wait until early February before moving on to the next opportunity should one come along.

Over the course of the past four seasons, Munchak has taken a line filled with disparate personalities and pedigrees and turned it into a cohesive group and made most of them millionaires several times over in the process. When asked if Munchak deserves a cut of the profits, to a man they say yes.

Of course, Munchak would never take it. What's the fun in that when he can use the knowledge he's one of the lowest-paid guys in the room — and the only one, by the way, with a bust in Canton, Ohio — to bring out the sense of humor he uses to disarm and instruct, often at the same time. Film sessions are equal parts teaching mechanism and stand-up act.

"He'll make fun of you in a funny, nonaggressive way, not to where (you're offended)," said four-time Pro Bowl guard David DeCastro, whose rise to one of the best in the league coincided with Munchak's arrival in 2014.

"If he makes fun of you, you laugh about it but then it's still in the back of your head right, so you remember (the lesson) at the same time."

Four years and four playoff berths into Munchak's tenure, the lessons have been many. While left tackle Alejandro Villanueva stressed the line's only goal is "to win the game and keep (quarterback) Ben (Roethlisberger) upright," let's give it a try anyway.

Over the first decade of Roethlisberger's career, he was sacked an average of 42 times a season. Since Munchak arrived, that number has dropped to 22½ a season.

Though there are other factors at play, namely Roethlisberger's continued evolution, the presence of some of the best skill position players in the league in wide receiver Antonio Brown and running back Le'Veon Bell, the line's contributions can't be overlooked.

And those contributions start with Munchak, who has preached an ethos that could best be described as a jumbo-sized version of the "Three Musketeers."

"He created an offensive line and an offensive line is not about individuals, it's about the collective culture you have in the room," said Villanueva, a former practice squad player who made his first Pro Bowl this season.

"I've been nothing more than a product of his environment, the standards that he sets and the way he coaches."

A method that resonates in a room filled with everything from surefire bets DeCastro and center Maurkice Pouncey (both former first-round picks) to undrafted free agents such as Villanueva, Hubbard and left guard Ramon Foster.

Despite a resume that includes a Hall of Fame jacket and a spot on the 1980s All-Decade team during his career with the Houston Oilers, Munchak carries himself like an everyman.

"He understands the game so well so it makes you feel very comfortable when you talk to him about things," Villanueva said. "He's not panicking or freaking out when some things are not going right. He's always the same consistent person every single day."

Things have rarely gone wrong for the Steelers this season. The line has stayed remarkably healthy, the only real trouble spot coming when right tackle Marcus Gilbert served a four-game suspension for violating the league's performance-enhancers policy.

Hubbard stepped in and played admirably in Gilbert's absence. The Steelers went 3-1 during that stretch, the only loss to New England in a game that wasn't decided until the final seconds.

"He treats everybody the same, he has no favorites," Hubbard said. "That's a big part of what we have. That's why we're so close. We can talk about anything that may go on."

Including Munchak's possible departure. Yet the men Munchak coaches aren't wasting any time getting prematurely nostalgic. They're well aware Munchak, who went 22-26 in three seasons as head coach in Tennessee from 2011-13, is capable of taking over the big job.

And they'll be the first ones to congratulate him if it happens. There's also a job to do. What better way to bolster Munchak's stock than by having the line help pave the way to a seventh Super Bowl?

laborative effort from the beginning – ASHSAA has also been pushing the same message, to try and make sure that the kids are a united front.”

He continued, “We’re not Faga’itua, we’re not Tafuna, we’re not Samoa – we’re team Amerika Samoa. Every chance we get we try to get the message across to the kids , and I think it’s been very positive and the kids are buying into it, to being one unit and hopefully it’ll reflect on the field.”

SamoaNewsaskedTaveuveu about American Samoa’s focus for the JPS Paradise Football Classic III. He said, “We have to be consistent on both sides of the ball on both offense and defense – fortunately for us, we have Tala Sufia (Tafuna High School quarterback) and Vito Kitiona (Faga’itua High School quarterback) who were the only two underclassmen that we were able to take with us to the Classic last year – so they they do bring some experience as far as the JPS Classic is concerned.

“We also have a lot of good running backs and good offensive linemen that I think we’ll be able to execute the game plan that we do put it – and on the other side, on our defensive side of the ball, we have some very lengthy and fast skill position players, linebackers, as well as defensive linemen who can compete at that level.”

In conclusion, Head Coach Taveuveu wanted to thank everyone who has supported them in their preparations for the upcoming Junior Prep Sports Paradise Football Classic III.

He said, “This is the third year and we’re thankful for the invitation from Robert Faleafine as well as Lydia Faleafine Nomura and the whole JPS organization. We’re also thankful to Honorable Governor Lolo Matalasi Moliga and the Government of American Samoa for footing the bill ... so that these kids are able to go to Hawa’ii and be a part of this excitement and to be a part of this wonderful opportunity to showcase their athleticism and abilities – as well as to putting American Samoa on the map.”

Taveuveu concluded, “ASHSAA has been wonderful, our special thanks to the DOE Director Dr. Ruth Matagi Tofiga, who has been really advocating for this to happen and she’s really been putting forth the effort that not only the players get to go – but the best of the players and the best of the coaches to represent American Samoa.

“Our special thanks as well goes out to the parents of my players and the community for putting up the money for this additional journey,” he said.

Bellerin rescues Arsenal by clinching 2-2 draw with Chelsea

LONDON (AP) — Hector Bellerin came to Arsenal's rescue in stoppage time to clinch a 2-2 draw against Chelsea after conceding in an absorbing Premier League encounter on Wednesday.

All four goals came in the final half hour of a game that left third-place and defending champion Chelsea 16 points behind Manchester City and Arsenal 23 adrift of the leaders.

The deficit would have been even worse for the sixth-place hosts had Bellerin not redeemed himself. The right back's challenge on Eden Hazard had allowed the Chelsea winger to cancel out Jack Wilshere's opener in the 67th minute.

Marcos Alonso fired Chelsea in front in the 84th with his sixth goal of the season, but wasn't as meticulous back on defensive duties in the second minute of stoppage time. A headed clearance went straight to Bellerin, who leveled with a half-volley.

Chelsea was still pursuing the winner in the third minute of stoppage time when defender Davide Zappacosta struck the crossbar.

Had striker Alvaro Morata not missed so many chances this could have been a third consecutive win for Chelsea. Chelsea is becoming reliant on Alonso for goals, with the left-sided defender the team's second-highest scorer behind Morata.

On the night when Diego Costa scored on his return to Atletico Madrid from Chelsea, the ferocious forward seems just what the champions have required at times.

Instead all Chelsea and Arsenal can realistically now achieve through the league is Champions League qualification. Even that could be beyond Arsene Wenger's side, with fourth place five points away.

Fortune wasn't on Arsenal's side against Chelsea.

Alexis Sanchez managed to hit both posts in the 16th — with the ball pinging from one side of the goal to the other without crossing the line. Then Chelsea goalkeeper Thibaut Courtois blocked Alexandre Lacazette's low shot on the turn.

After Hazard and Alonso were denied by Petr Cech at the start of the second half, Courtois used his sprawling body to again thwart Lacazette.

Wilshere, who had been booked in the first half for a challenge on former Arsenal teammate Cesc Fabregas, was fortunate to avoid a second yellow card for diving just before scoring.

Wilshere stayed on the pitch and lit up the game by combining with Mesut Ozil before scoring an eye-catching goal, slamming a fierce shot off the left hand post and into the net. In an Arsenal career punctuated by injuries and a season on loan at Bournemouth, it was Wilshere's first league goal since May 2015.

Wilshere's good work was undone when Bellerin's high challenge on Hazard led to the equalizer from the spot.

"He's always very quick in the box," Bellerin said. "I saw the ball in the air and I tried to challenge for it. We both went for the ball at the same time."

EUGENIA LAST

THE LAST WORD IN ASTROLOGY

Thursday,
January 4,

Happy Birthday: Do what's best for you. Don't feel the need to make hasty decisions just because someone else does. Let your talents rise to the surface and lead you down a path that you find exciting and satisfying. Be open to suggestions, but don't let anyone make choices for you. Put more effort into whatever will benefit you the most. Your numbers are 2, 13, 22, 26, 34, 41, 44.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You'll come up with some interesting ideas and solutions to problems you've been facing. Research and learn all you can before putting your plans into motion. Start small and work your way toward a better life and a healthier future.*****

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): A good deal will be difficult to resist. Consider any consequences you might suffer if you move forward without first getting the go-ahead. Time-sensitive matters will leave you questioning the best way to move forward without upsetting anyone.***

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You can make positive changes at home if you discuss your intentions with someone who will be affected by the choices you make. Getting the help and support you want will make your life easier. A partnership is apparent.*****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): A change in the way you offer your services to others or deal with your peers will encourage you to get more in return. Hard work will pay off. Set your sights high and don't stop until you reach your goal.***

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): If you love what you do, you will do it well. Look for jobs that interest and inspire you to do your very best. Expanding your awareness and collaborating with people who have more experience than you will be enlightening. ***

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): A change may not be welcome, but it will be educational. Use your intelligence and do whatever it takes to make whatever is going on around you work to your benefit. It's how you handle situations that will count the most. ***

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may feel like being generous and helping others, but when it comes to how you handle your cash, it is best to be frugal. Offer hands-on assistance or worthwhile suggestions that will encourage others to do what needs to be done. *****

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Protect your reputation, position and status. Use your intelligence and common sense to keep heading down the right path. A well-thought-out strategy will encourage you to stick to a budget and avoid risky ventures. **

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Check out what everyone else is doing and consider your options. Past experiences will spare you from making a mistake when dealing with emotional matters. Change can be positive, and short trips and networking will pay off.*****

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Be careful how you spend your money. Don't get involved in joint ventures or donate money because you are made to feel guilty. Keep your cash, possessions and personal information locked up somewhere safe. Avoid indulgent behavior. ***

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Partnerships look promising. Discuss your position and your intentions. Focus on positive changes and offer intellectual alternatives. You have much to gain if you use common sense to make your point. Be bold and take action. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): A change to the way you do business or treat peers will be questioned if you aren't accommodating. Explain your reasons for taking a different approach. Changes can be good if they are planned carefully. ***

Dear Abby

RIDE IN VINTAGE CAR MAKES PASSENGER FEAR FOR HER LIFE

DEAR ABBY: Recently a friend came over and took me to lunch. She has a small, 50-year-old vintage car that was very popular in the '60s. She had come from Marin County over the Golden Gate Bridge to my house.

As she drove us to the restaurant, her car stalled twice. It was very underpowered and, in my opinion, rickety. After she dropped me home, I sent her an email strongly expressing my concern that she is driving an unsafe car. I was worried for her safety. She took offense, so I apologized.

She has plenty of money to buy a safe used car like anyone else, but she says, "I like driving vintage." I don't want to get into her car again. Was I wrong to tell her I felt her car was unsafe? -- NERVOUS PASSENGER IN SAN FRANCISCO

DEAR PASSENGER: You weren't wrong to warn her. However, you may have been wrong to assume that she has "plenty of money to buy a safe used car." Nobody has as much money as others assume they do. Because you don't want to get into her car again, you should provide the transportation from now on or meet her at the restaurant.

DEAR ABBY: My across-the-street neighbor and I have become friendly. She has a 15-month-old and a newborn. Not only is she not married to the baby's daThursday, January 4, 2017, but they don't even live together.

She has been asking me to help her a lot now that the baby is born. I'm 10 years older and raising three kids, all in their teens.

Abby, I don't want to raise anyone else's kids. How can I politely tell her that I have my own family to care for? She has a tendency to overreact. -- KEEPING DISTANCE

DEAR KEEPING DISTANCE: To tell your neighbor you "don't want to raise anyone else's kids" may be accurate, but it's a bit rough. When she asks you to do things for her, be pleasant and say -- consistently -- that you are busy, you don't have time, you have other plans, etc. If you do, she will soon realize that you are not to be depended upon.

DEAR ABBY: My son has lived overseas on and off for six years. He's being married to a wonderful young woman where they met, which was in Wales. Needless to say, not everyone can attend, so we are having a reception for them here in the States.

My son already has a fully furnished house overseas and doesn't need anything, plus the cost of taking gifts back would be astronomical! Anyway, he is thinking of asking for monetary help with the honeymoon. Would this be all right to do and, if so, how do you ask people for it? -- HELP FOR THE HONEYMOON

DEAR HELP: Many young people today post requests like that on their wedding website. Or, because friends and relatives may ask what they need after receiving invitations or announcements, the message can be conveyed verbally. According to the rules of etiquette, however, requests for gifts or money should NEVER be included WITH the invitations or announcements.
