A Tafuna header with less than five minutes remaining in the game helped clinch a thrilling junior varsity game between the Warriors and Leone Lions on Monday, April 9, 2018.

The Warriors won 3-2 thanks to a lobbing cross from Walter Pati to Pita Vaouli, with the latter leaping over a defender and heading it just over the outstretched hands of Leone's goalie.

Both teams missed a total of three penalty kicks in the game, and Tafuna had to fight back from a 2-1 deficit to pull off the miracle win in the waning minutes of the game. In the only other game held that day, the Warriors' varsity team beat the Nu'uuli Voc-Tech Wildcats 4-0.

Milo Tiatia came through for the Warriors, completing a hat trick, with two of those coming in the first half. Aukusitino Afoa scored the other goal for Tafuna.

LIONS 4, DOLPHINS 4
(APRIL 7)

A great game was played between these two teams, with the score getting tied up on several occasions.

Manu 'MJ' Danielson Jr. was the star for Leone, scoring three goals, while Joshua Tabui scored two for SPA.

With Leone seemingly on the verge of winning, Tabui equalized the game 4-4 during the 55th minute of the game. He scored the game's first goal on the 5th minute, but MJ equalized in the 16th.

Pita Lui put SPA up two minutes later with a goal of his own, but MJ made it level again 2-2 during the 25th minute.

In the second half, MJ put his team up 3-2 in the 32nd minute, and Michael gave them a two-goal lead in the 50th minute of the match. But SPA fought back and scored a goal during the 53rd, before Tabui tied it up two minutes later.

Butler, Towns lead T-wolves past Nuggets in OT, to playoffs

By DAVE CAMPBELL, AP Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The toughness that Jimmy Butler, Taj Gibson and the rest of the veterans brought to the Minnesota Timberwolves this season was on display from start to finish.

Finally, after a 14-year absence, the long-languishing franchise is back in the playoffs.

Fittingly, it took until the last game and then some to get there.

Butler scored 31 points, Karl-Anthony Towns had 26 points and 14 rebounds, and the Timberwolves outlasted the Denver Nuggets 112-106 in overtime Wednesday night in who are moving on to play, gulp, the NBA-best Houston Rockets.

"I feel like our effort was outstanding. Theirs was too," said Will Barton, who had 24 points but shot just 3 for 12 after halftime. "They just made the plays at the end. Give them credit."

Barton's 3-pointer beat the shot clock for Denver's first lead, 104-103, since midway through the first quarter. After Gibson hounded Jokic to force an air-balled 3-point try, Jeff Teague swished a floater with 1:19 left in overtime to put the Wolves back in front for good.

Andrew Wiggins sank two foul shots with 15 seconds tied it at 101, so the Wolves needed Gibson's defense to save them down the stretch.

He forced Jokic into the baseline for a forced layup that missed badly. Then Gibson stripped the ball from the 7-foot Serbian in the corner to give the Wolves the ball back with 1.6 seconds remaining in regulation. Jamal Crawford's heave from just inside half court was on line, but it fell short.

"I just took one dribble," Jokic said, "and Taj made a really good defensive play."

PLAY NOW, REST LATER

Gibson played through a sore neck that forced him out of the last game in the first quarter, finishing with eight points in the first final-day play-in game in the NBA in 21 years.

No team in the league had gone longer without a post-season appearance than the Timberwolves, who took Towns with the first overall pick in the 2015 draft and traded for Butler last summer to put themselves in position to return.

"I'll probably fall asleep tonight and wake up in the middle of the night and start crying," said Towns, who was 8 years old the last time the Wolves were in the playoffs. "It'll hit me, what happened."

The Nuggets won six in a row to force this elimination game, including a 100-96 decision in Denver last week that was the last time the Wolves (47-35) played without Butler, and went 23-12 over their previous 35 contests.

Nikola Jokic locked in a classic big man battled with Towns, finishing with 35 points and 10 rebounds, but he missed six of his last eight shots after the third quarter as the valiant finish to this season fell just short. The Nuggets (46-36) haven't made the playoffs in five years.

Now it's the Timberwolves remaining to make it 110-106 and finish with 18 points, and the Wolves were finally on their way to a celebration more than a decade in the making. Butler, who has not held back from openly challenging Wiggins and the other junior members of the team to play with more tenacity, walked up to Wiggins before the free throws with some forceful encouragement.

"I was like, 'Wiggs, I know you can do this,'" Butler said. "And he told me to move. He did. He's like, 'Move!' I'm like, 'OK, excuse me.' And he stepped up and hit both of them. So, from now on, stay in my lane." The Wolves were ahead by as many as 10 points in the second quarter and took a 99-91 lead on Teague's 3-pointer with 4:26 left in regulation, but just like with this whole regular season the Nuggets wouldn't go away. Jokic answered with a 3-pointer, and Butler missed both of his free throws. Back-to-back jumpers by Jamal Murray, the last one from 3-point range, tied it. Butler put the Wolves back in front with a 13-footer, but he missed twice more from the floor in the final two minutes. Murray's off-balance bank 35 minutes. Butler logged 42 minutes after playing 23 minutes apiece in his previous two games.

"He told me after the shoot-around that he's from Brooklyn," coach Tom Thibodeau said, "and he said he'd be fine."

DRAMATIC FINISH

The game marked only the third time since the NBA's current 16-team format began in 1984 that two teams met on the last day of the regular season with the winner qualifying for the playoffs and the loser being eliminated. Washington beat Cleveland in 1997 and Denver beat Sacramento in 1995 to claim the final spots.

DIVISION DOMINANCE

With the loss, the Nuggets finished last in the Northwest Division, a mere three games out of first. This was the first time in 14 seasons since the NBA realigned into six divisions of five times apiece that the last-place team was less than 11 games behind the leader.

TIP-INS

Nuggets: Jokic posted his seventh 30-point game of the season, three of those in the last six games. ... Wilson Chandler went scoreless in 48 minutes. ...

Wizards finish eighth in East after 101-92 loss to Magic

By DICK SCANLON, Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — The Washington Wizards went cold in the final quarter of their final game of the regular season — and it cost them. The Wizards shot 5 for 25 but a 3-pointer by Purvis put Orlando ahead to stay at 84-81. After a layup by Beal pulled the Wizards to within two at 86-84 with 4:34 left, they went more than three minutes without scoring while Orlando pulled ahead by 10.

TIP-INS

Wizards: F Otto Porter did not play because of a lower right leg strain. Brooks said Porter’s playoff availability is undetermined. ... Beal started all 82 games this season. Magic: With 13 3-pointers, a in the fourth quarter and 34 percent for the game, losing 101-92 to the Orlando Magic on Wednesday night and finishing eighth in the Eastern Conference playoff seeding. “We just couldn’t make any shots tonight. Nobody had a shot fall consistently other than Jodie (Meeks),” coach Scott Brooks said. “The Magic made the plays when they wanted, when they needed to, and we didn’t. They played better than us tonight.” Meeks came off the bench with five 3-pointers to score a game-high 18 points for Washington, which lost five of its final six games. A win would have pulled the Wizards (43-39) up to seventh place and a first-round playoff series against Boston. Instead, they will play Toronto in the opening round. “I was telling the guys in the locker room that we don’t condone any losses, but we throw this one out. We move on,” said Bradley Beal, who scored 13 points. “We shot ourselves in the foot. We have done it all year. “Now we are the eighth seed and we just have to go and compete.” Rodney Purvis scored 16 points to lead Orlando, while Mario Hezonja finished with 15 points, eight rebounds and six assists. Arron Afflalo hit five of six shots in the second quarter in leading Orlando to a 55-45 half-time lead. Washington regained the lead early in the fourth quarter,

Brooks decided to rest guard John Wall, who had played 36 minutes in Tuesday night’s win over Boston. “Let’s face it, any time you lose one of the best players in the league, it puts your team in a tough position,” Brooks said. “We’re a different team with him, like any team would be. He’s dynamic, he’s explosive, gets easy points for all of us.” Easy points weren’t easy to come by Wednesday night. “To see us take a playoff team that needed a win and hold them to 34 percent shooting, I’m very proud of that,” Magic coach Frank Vogel said. The Magic (25-25) played the second half without Aaron Gordon, Nikola Vucevic, D.J. Augustin and Bismack Biyombo, who combined for 26 points and 10 rebounds in the first half. “It doesn’t mean much, but it’s always better than losing,” Vucevic said. Magic forward Marreese Speights was ejected with 8:59 left in the third quarter after elbowing Marcin Gortat in the face while both were walking up the court. A double technical was called on the play. BATTLE-TESTED? Gortat said the Wizards are confident first-round underdogs. “We have a team with a lot of veterans. We’ve been playing together a long time and we have been in big battles in the past,” he said. “We need to play our game with a lot better effort than we did today.”

Kings beat short-handed Rockets 96-83 in season finale

Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Willie Cauley-Stein had 22 points and 11 rebounds to help the Sacramento Kings finish the regular season with a 96-83 victory over the short-handed Houston Rockets on Wednesday night.

With Houston (65-17) already having wrapped up the best record in the NBA, coach Mike D’Antoni opted to rest most of his top players, including starters James Harden, Chris Paul, Trevor Ariza and Clint Capela. The top-seeded Rockets will open the playoffs at home this weekend against Minnesota.

The Kings took advantage of Houston’s depleted lineup and ended another disappointing season off by snapping a seven-game skid against the Rockets. Sacramento finished with a 27-55 record in coach Dave Joerger’s second season, its worst mark since going 24-58 in 2010-11.

The Kings never trailed after the first quarter and coasted to the win.

Gerald Green scored 31 points and R.J. Hunter added 19 to lead the Rockets.

TIP-INS

Rockets: Houston added a new player in Aaron Jackson, who spent the past seven seasons playing overseas. Jackson arrived just before game time and didn’t even have his name on the back of his No. 55 jersey, which had belonged to the recently released Tim Quarterman. Jackson scored eight points in 34 minutes. ... Harden won his first career scoring title, averaging 30.4 ppg, second in franchise history to Moses Malone’s 31.1 in 1981-82.

Kings: Sacramento now has the NBA’s longest current playoff drought after Minnesota earned the eighth seed in the West with a win Wednesday. The Kings have missed the playoffs for 12 straight years.

SIDELINED

Houston forward Luc Mbah a Moute will likely miss at least the first round of the playoffs after dislocating his right shoulder Tuesday night against the Lakers. D’Antoni said Mbah a Moute will likely miss two to three weeks with the injury. Mbah a Moute missed 15 games in December and January after dislocating his right shoulder.

“It hurts,” D’Antoni said. “That’s why we have depth. As the door closes for somebody, it opens for somebody else. That’s why we went and got Joe Johnson and we have Ryan (Anderson) coming back in here. You hate to lose Luc. I hate it for him personally. It’s not something that anyone would want. He’ll be back. We just have to hold on until he’s back.”

Ohtani RBI and pickoff in Angels’ 7-2 win for sweep at Texas

By STEPHEN HAWKINS, AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Shohei Ohtani never saw such a quick pickoff move by Chris Martin when they were teammates in Japan.

Ohtani had an RBI single in the second inning that put the Los Angeles Angels ahead to stay, but was picked off first base in the eighth by his former teammate in a 7-2 victory Wednesday night over the Texas Rangers.

“It wasn’t like really a funny moment or anything,” Ohtani said through his interpreter. “I’ve never seen him pick off that fast with the Fighters, so that surprised me, but something that I know for the next time I’m on base against him.”

Ohtani was in the lineup for the first time since homering in each of his three starts as designated hitter last week. The 23-year-old rookie two-way sensation put the Angels up 1-0 in the second with his opposite-field single and finished 1 for 3 with a walk. The Rangers were swept in the three-game series, became the first team in the majors with 10 losses and now will be without their shortstop and No. 3 hitter. Elvis Andrus has a broken right elbow after being hit by a pitch in the ninth inning.

By BETH HARRIS, AP Sports Writer

Zuckerberg says regulation inevitable. Is Congress up to it?

By MARY CLARE JALONICK and BARBARA ORTUTAY, Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg acknowledged Wednesday that regulation of social media companies is "inevitable" and disclosed that his own personal information has been compromised by malicious outsiders. But after two days of congressional testimony, what seemed clear was how little Congress seems to know about Facebook, much less what to do about it. House lawmakers aggressively questioned Zuckerberg Wednesday on user data, privacy settings and whether the company is biased against conservatives. As they did in the Senate a day earlier, both Republicans and Democrats suggested that regulation might be needed, but there was no consensus and few specifics about what that might look like — or even what the biggest problems are.

New Jersey Rep. Frank Pallone, the top Democrat on the panel and a 30-year veteran of the House, said at the beginning of the hearing that he plans to work on legislation but is pessimistic that Congress will pass anything.

"I've just seen it over and over again — that we have the hearings, and nothing happens," he said.

For Zuckerberg, who often found himself explaining what his company does in rudimentary terms to lawmakers twice his age, the hearings could be considered a win: Facebook shares rose more than 1 percent after climbing 4.5 percent on Monday. And his company regained more than $25 billion in market value that is had lost since it was revealed in March that Cambridge Analytica, a data-mining firm affiliated with Donald Trump's presidential campaign, gathered personal information from 87 million users to try to influence elections.

Still, Facebook's stock remains 10 percent below where it stood before the scandal, a decline that has wiped out about $50 billion in shareholder wealth.

Zuckerberg agreed to the hearings as pressure mounted over the Cambridge Analytica scandal and the company's own admission last year that it had been compromised by Russians trying to influence the 2016 election. Earlier this year, special counsel Robert Mueller charged 13 Russian individuals and three Russian companies in a plot to interfere in the 2016 presidential election through a social media propaganda effort that included online ad purchases using U.S. aliases and politicking on U.S. soil. A number of the Russian ads were on Facebook.

Zuckerberg told the Senate on Tuesday that the company has been working with Mueller in his Russia probe and apologized over and over again for the company's handling of data privacy.

"I started Facebook, I run it, and I'm responsible for what happens here," he said.

House lawmakers were a bit tougher on Zuckerberg than their colleagues in the Senate, many of whom seemed confused by the company and what it does. Some of the House members curtly cut him off in questioning, trying to make the most of their four minutes each.

Happy Birthday: Keep secrets. Gossiping or meddling of any kind will come back to haunt you. Run a tight ship and keep a clean slate in all your dealings to avoid being put in a precarious position. Think matters through to the end before you take action. Focus on personal growth and being the best you can be. Your numbers are 8, 15, 22, 29, 34, 43, 48.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your actions will count. Follow through with your promises. Do your best to keep the peace and to avoid making assumptions without having all the facts. Observation will help you avoid mistakes and encourage greater insight into emotional situations. 3 stars

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Explore new interests or bring an old dream or pastime back to life. Engage in creative endeavors that give you the freedom to push your skills and talents to the limit. Love and romance are highlighted and short trips encouraged. 4 stars

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): A steady pace and being honest about what you can accomplish will help you reach the goals you set. Don’t feel you have to put someone else’s needs before your own. Good fortune will come from doing what’s best for you. 2 stars

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You can solve any differences you have with someone if you are patient and willing to listen to complaints as well as suggestions. Working with instead of against someone will lead to common ground. Romance is encouraged. 5 stars

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Take a good look around you and consider what you can do to make your life more comfortable. Personal changes to your living quarters or a physical update to the way you look will lift your spirits. 3 stars

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Concentrate on doing something creative or unique compared to anything you have experienced in the past. Short trips in pursuit of information that can help divert you from stressful situations will result in peace of mind and an unexpected solution. 3 stars

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Look for alternative ways to get the most out of your life. Save more, indulge less and concentrate on maintaining good health through proper diet and exercise. You are only as good as the rules, habits and goals you set moving forward. 3 stars

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Share your intentions, and you will find out exactly where you stand and what you need to do in order to reach your goal. If you don’t ask for what you want, you will stifle your ability to bring about positive change. 5 stars

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Emotional manipulation on your part or on the part of someone else will lead to disaster. Dismiss anyone who gives you an ultimatum or is offering information that doesn’t sound legitimate. Look inward for truth and solutions. 2 stars

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Look for new opportunities that will give you the chance to use your skills in a unique and interesting manner. A change in the way you earn your living, to your popularity or to your reputation is apparent. Romance is highlighted. 4 stars

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You’ll be tempted to make changes to your current direction or friendships with people you’ve known a long time. Reverting back to old habits will not turn out to be as progressive as you hoped and will lead to challenges you didn’t expect. 3 stars

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Let your emotions out, and share your thoughts, feelings and intentions. You can make headway if you are honest about what you want. Personal changes will lead to greater opportunity and self-satisfaction. Romance is in the stars. 3 stars

TEEN IS STRUGGLING TO REBUILD CONNECTION TO ALCOHOLIC MOM

DEAR ABBY: My mom is a recovering alcoholic. Her alcoholism has caused emotional distress and damaged our relationship to the point that I am aloof and terse toward her.

She’s six months sober now, receiving help and making an effort to repair the hurt and pain she has caused. But I’m struggling in moving forward. My mom is generous, kind, loving, and has always been supportive. I feel guilty for the ambivalent part of me that could care less about fixing the issues SHE caused in our relationship. It saddens both of us that I have a hard time being kind and loving toward her. Any advice? -- STUBBORN TEEN IN SOUTH CAROLINA

DEAR TEEN: Alcoholism is a disease that affects not only the drinker, but also those close to her (or him). That your mother is receiving help and working to remain sober means she is trying as hard as she can to get better and remain that way. Forgiveness isn’t automatic. It is a conscious choice on the part of the injured party. To think you are alone in this situation would be a mistake. There’s a support group for younger family members of alcoholics called Alateen. If you attend some of the meetings, it may help you to be kinder and more loving toward your mother. Alateen groups are everywhere. To find one visit al-anon.org.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I was late to work because I slept in and my boss was upset about it. But the thing is -- it’s really none of his business, is it? What I do on my own time isn’t the business of my employer. I don’t ask him what he does when he isn’t here. This has happened a few times and I know it might present a problem, but I don’t think it’s his place to tell me what to do outside of work. How is that legal? I need the extra sleep in the mornings because I like to stay out late at night, which is my right as an American. If I need extra sleep in order to perform my job at a higher level, then isn’t it better for the company that I sleep in? I’m hearing blame when I should be hearing thank you. -- MY BUSINESS IN INDIANA

DEAR MY BUSINESS: Forgive me if this seems harsh, but your boss’s business IS his business. Businesses have regular hours of operation, which are usually stated in the employee handbook you should have read when you were being hired. It’s the duty of an employee to show up on time AND in condition to perform his/her job. I’m not surprised your boss is upset. It’s a natural response when an employee who’s relied upon acts irresponsibly, which is what you have been doing. Because you prioritize your social life above your work life, consider looking for a job that starts later or has flexible hours. You may need it.

DEAR ABBY: What is the purpose of high school graduation announcements? To whom should they be sent, and what are the expectations surrounding them? My son is graduating, so we are preparing announcements, but I’m not sure who to send them to, and I don’t want anyone to think we are asking for a gift. We have received several announcements from my son’s friends who live out of state. Should I send them gifts? -- WANTS TO GET IT RIGHT

DEAR WANTS: Graduation announcements are usually sent to close family and friends. Recipients are under no obligation to send a gift. Your congratulations should be enough.

Davis, Rondo power Pelicans past Spurs, 122-98

By BRETT MARTEL, AP Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The chemistry between Anthony Davis and Rajon Rondo keeps blossoming to spectacular effect, infusing the New Orleans Pelicans with confidence as they head into the playoffs on a five-game winning streak.

“When he’s going, he’s got a high motor, pushing the basketball,” Davis said of Rondo. “If we want shots, we have to run with him. He’s making sure we’re making the effort to get back into the offense and get some assists for him.”

Davis had 22 points, 15 rebounds, four blocks and three steals, Rondo had 19 points and 14 assists and the Pelicans captured the sixth seed in the Western Conference playoffs with a 122-98 victory over San Antonio on Wednesday night.

Rondo set up all three of Davis’ dunks — including a soaring roundhouse jam on a cut to the basket in the first half and a reverse alley-oop in the fourth quarter that drove the crowd wild.

LaMarcus Aldridge, Tony Parker and Dejounte Murray each scored 11 points for the Spurs, who were already playoff bound but went to the locker room after their loss in New Orleans knowing they’d be at best a seventh seed, and that’s where they ended up. With his team struggling to keep pace with the Pelicans, Spurs coach Gregg Popovich pulled his regulars early in the fourth quarter, limiting all of his key players to fewer than 30 minutes on the court.

Popovich didn’t sound at all concerned about whether his club entered the playoffs with momentum.

“I think that is all psychobabble,” he said. “We have been on both ends of everything for all of these years, so, you just go play.”

Spurs veterans also downplayed their late-season stumbles, which included an eight-game road losing streak.

“We got in and now it is time to fine-tune things and try to get better,” Aldridge said. “There is no pressure on us, so we’ve just got go play and be better and just be locked in.”

Nikola Mirotic had 21 points and 15 rebounds, Jrue Holiday added 19 points and E’Twaun Moore added 13 points for the Pelicans, who led by double-digits throughout the second half, with their largest lead topping out at 25.

The Pelicans finished with 78 points in the paint and shot 59.1 percent (52 of 88). New Orleans also had 32 points on fast breaks, compared to 17 for the Spurs.

“In transition, with Rondo leading us, and A.D. running the floor, and we got E’Twaun on the wing and Niko shooting 3s — I feel like we’ve got a pretty good chance,” Holiday said.

TIP-INS

Spurs: Kyle Anderson and Bryn Forbes each scored 10 points. ... Remained without Kawhi Leonard, who wound up playing in only nine games during the regular season because of a lingering right quadriceps injury. His availability for the playoffs remains unclear. ... Finished 14-27 on the road, where they’ll start the playoffs.

Pelicans: Won the season series against San Antonio, 3-1. ... Mirotic hasn’t scored fewer than 21 in any of New Orleans’ past five games. New Orleans’ 48 victories is the third most in franchise history, which officially dates back to the NBA’s return to the city in 2002-03. When Chris Paul played in New Orleans, the club won 56 games in 2007-08 and 49 in 2008-09.
