SBA dominates championship divisions

by FFAS Media/ Brian Vitolio
Samoa Baptist Academy dominated three of the four championship games of the 2017 FFAS Private Elementary Schools Soccer League on Tuesday, Nov. 21 at the Kanana

Fou Seminary Field in Tafuna. The championship games marked the end to the 7th edition of the soccer league for the private elementary schools that kicked off in October. SBA won the Boys Grades 7-8, Girls 7-8, and Boys 5-6 divisions, while Peteli Academy won the Girls 5-6 championship.

23 teams competed in the Grades 1-2 and Grades 3-4 divisions, and all teams were considered winners, as the competition was non-competitive.

"We want to thank all the schools, principals, parents, supporters, and especially the players for making this league another successful one this year," said FFAS President Faiivae Iuli Alex Godinet. "We are very appreciative of all your efforts in preparing your teams for this competition."

"We made a big change in terms of our competition this year, turning it into four divisions instead of the usual three," said FFAS CEO Tavita Taumua. "The only division that is the same as last year is the Grades 1-2, but this year we grouped the grades into two levels per division, with levels 3-4, 5-6 and 7-8."

"From our point of view it was very successful because we are trying to group the players together according to their ages. The principals of the schools have gotten together and already made proposals for next year's league, so our competition may look different again next year."

Faiivae thanked the CCCAS and the Kanana Fou Theological Seminary allowing FFAS to use its field for the competition for the seventh straight year. All schools, including Kanana Fou Theological Seminary, received monetary gifts of $400 each from FFAS.

BOYS GRADES 7-8 SBA 4, SPA 0

Samoa Baptist Academy clinched the Boys 7-8 title on the back of Dylan Langkilde's two goals in the final, an effort that earned him the Most Valuable Player award for the division.

It was a close first half with Langkilde's first of two goals

Demry Croft departs, leaving Gophers with another QB search

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Coach P.J. Fleck will start his second season at Minnesota facing the same challenge as in his first year in charge of the Gophers: by breaking in another new starting quarterback.

Demry Croft has decided to leave the program, following a final month in maroon and gold during which he set the school's single-game quarterback rushing record in one contest but completed only 10 passes for an offense that produced just 10 points over the other three games combined. Croft, a redshirt sophomore who replaced fifth-year senior Conor Rhoda as the starter at midseason, asked Fleck for his release from his scholarship after Minnesota's 31-0 loss to Wisconsin on Saturday.

Team spokesman Paul Rovnak confirmed that Fleck will grant the request by Croft, who completed 51 of 123 passes (41.5 percent) for 674 yards, four touchdowns and seven interceptions.

Whether Croft, who was recruited by then-coach Jerry Kill's staff out of Boylan Catholic High School in Rockford, Illinois, will transfer to another school to continue his football career was unclear Monday.

Grizzlies fire coach David Fizdale day after benching Gasol

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The Memphis Grizzlies fired coach David Fizdale on Monday, with the team at 7-12 and a day after he benched center Marc Gasol for the fourth quarter of an eighth straight loss.

General manager Chris Wallace announced the move. Associate head coach J.B. Bickerstaff has been named interim head coach.

“After a thorough evaluation, I decided a change in course was necessary to move forward and provide the team and organization its best chance at success this season and beyond,” Wallace said in a statement.

The move caught the NBA by surprise. Dwyane Wade, who played with the Miami Heat when Fizdale was an assistant coach, wrote on Twitter that he needed answers. LeBron James retweeted a comment on Twitter calling the firing so stunning that the writer triple-checked the original ESPN report to make sure he wasn’t being duped by a fake account.

“I need some answers. Feels like my man was a fall guy,” James wrote.

Fizdale became the franchise’s 13th head coach on May 29, 2016, and he went 50-51.

The Grizzlies reached the postseason for a seventh straight time in Fizdale’s first season, when they lost to the San Antonio Spurs. Fizdale was fined $30,000 by the NBA for a rant over officiating after a loss in Game 2.

Memphis let Zach Randolph, Vince Carter and Tony Allen all leave as free agents and signed Ben McLemore, Tyreke Evans and Mario Chalmers to retool the roster around Gasol and point guard Mike Conley and give Fizdale a faster lineup.

The moves appeared to be working when Memphis started this season an NBA-best 5-1. The Grizzlies stood atop the Western Conference with a win over the Golden State Warriors and two over Southwest Division rival Houston.

But Conley has been out since Nov. 17, resting an aching left Achilles tendon. The team lost its eighth straight on Sunday, 98-88 to the Nets, matching the longest skid for this franchise since Feb. 11-March 3, 2009. Fizdale kept Gasol on the bench for the fourth quarter, and the center made his unhappiness clear after the game.

“It’s a first for me, trust me, and I don’t like it one bit,” said Gasol, who leads Memphis in points, rebounds and assists. “I’m more (ticked) than I can show and frustrated.”

The Grizzlies gave Gasol a maximum deal in July 2015, and Gasol was an All-Star in Fizdale’s inaugural season.

BEACH ADVISORY

American Samoa Environmental Protection Agency

Supporting efforts to clean our shores

AS-EPA

Release Date: November 22, 2017
Contact: AS-EPA Water Program at (684) 633-2304
The American Samoa Environmental Protection Agency (AS-EPA) advises the public that on November 14, 2017, the following recreational beaches tested positive for Enterococci bacteria levels that exceed American Samoa Water Quality Standards:

Fagatogo Stream Mouth
Fagasa Beach

AS-EPA beach advisories inform the public about current water conditions. When a beach advisory is issued, it is because water samples indicate that the American Samoa Water Quality Standard for Enterococci has been exceeded. This advisory is in effect until further sampling and laboratory analyses indicate that Enterococci concentrations are within acceptable water quality standards.

The presence of Enterococci in the water indicates contamination by human and/or animal wastes. Swimming in water with high levels of Enterococci may cause stomach problems, skin rashes, and ear, eye, and wound infections. To reduce your risk: avoid swallowing beach water, be sure to rinse or towel off after a swim, and shower once at home. If you are ill, or think you may be ill, AS-EPA advises that you consult a physician before making any water contact in the beaches cited above.

Note: AS-EPA monitors the water quality of 44 recreational beaches on Tutuila, the wharf in Aunu’u, and five beaches on Manu’a. Tutuila advisories are issued weekly on Wednesdays. Aunu’u and Manu’a advisories are issued monthly. Advisories are issued when bacteria concentrations exceed levels determined safe for human exposure. Should you have any questions, please contact the AS-EPA Water Program at 633-2304.

the only one scored going into the break. But in the second, No. 2 SBA reeled off three goals to put away a feisty No. 4 SPA.

In the game for third place, No. 3 Kanana Fou A shocked No. 1 Iakina 5-2.

The other teams that competed in this competition were Peteli Academy, St. Theresa, Marist St. Francis, Kanana Fou B and Pacific Horizons School.

GIRLS GRADES 7-8 SBA 0, KF 0 (SHOOTOUT 2-1)

No. 3 SBA continued its upset route to the championship title with a 2-1 shootout win over No. 1 Kanana Fou in the Girls Grades 7-8 division.

Johana Sovea tended goal for Samoa Baptist Academy and she helped her team clinch the title by making crucial saves during the penalty shootout to determine the game's winner after 0-0 score during regulation.

Her efforts helped her nab the division's MVP award at the end.

In the game for third place, No. 2 Marist St. Francis beat No. 4 Iakina 6-3.

The other teams that competed in this division were Iakina Adventist Academy and South Pacific Academy.

BOYS GRADES 5-6 SBA 2, MSF 2

Samoa Baptist Academy led 2-0, but Marist St. Francis fought back and evened the score at 2-2 before time expired.

In the shootout, SBA prevailed 3-2 in penalty kicks output to make it three out of four championship titles on the day. Alex Faiivae of SBA was named the MVP of the division.

In the game for third place, No. 1 Iakina beat No. 2 Peteli 1-0.

The other teams that competed in this competition were St. Theresa, Pacific Horizons School, Kanana Fou, South Pacific Academy A and South Pacific Academy B.

GIRLS GRADES 5-6 PETELI A 9, KANANA FOU 1

No. 1 Peteli A is the only top team from the competitive divisions to survive the semi-finals, and go on to win their division's title.

They won handily, thanks to the division's MVP Paulia Fa'aso'o, as she helped her team by scoring five goals out of the nine.

In the game for third place, No. 2 SBA beat No. 4 Peteli B 1-0.

The other teams that competed in this division were Pacific Horizons School, Iakina Adventist Academy, Marist St. Francis and St. Theresa.

12 teams competed in the levels 1-2 division, and they were:

1. Iakina Adventist Academy
2. Kanana Fou A
3. Kanana Fou B
4. Pacific Horizons School
5. Peteli Academy A
6. Peteli Academy B
7. St. Theresa

Ex-pro football player accused in wife's death faces judge

PARK CITY, Utah (AP) — A former professional football player charged with killing his wife by cutting her throat at a Utah ski town resort made his first court appearance Monday.

Anthony D. McClanahan used a wheelchair during the hearing, though there have been no previous indications of him using one. Defense attorney John Johnson didn't know why he needed it, The Deseret News reported. Johnson said he's still gathering information about the Park City case. McClanahan, 46, suffered superficial cuts in the fatal Nov. 2 struggle with his wife at the Park Regency hotel, prosecutors said in charging documents. McClanahan is charged with murder in the death of 28-year-old Keri "KC" McClanahan. Prosecutors say her throat was cut with a small, sharp knife she wore sheathed in a paracord bracelet, authorities said. He was found crawling on the ground outside the hotel and told police that he and his wife had been attacked. He's also charged separately with child kidnapping. Prosecutors say he picked up his 8-year-old son from another relationship in Arizona without telling the boy's mother and took him to Salt Lake City in October, weeks before the slaying.

He did not use a wheelchair when he was arrested in October, Salt Lake County Jail Sgt. Kevin Hunter told The Associated Press. Hunter declined to comment on why McClanahan was using the wheelchair Monday, citing medical privacy laws. McClanahan played in the Canadian Football League in the mid-1990s after a collegiate career at Washington State University and a training-camp stint with the Dallas Cowboys.

Vols AD Currie defends coaching search, vetting of Schiano

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee athletic director John Currie is defending his coaching search and vouching for the character of Greg Schiano a day after negotiations between the two parties broke down amid a public backlash.

Currie issued a statement Monday acknowledging the Ohio State defensive coordinator had been a leading candidate for the Volunteers' coaching vacancy without explaining why the two sides parted ways.

"Among the most respected professional and college football coaches, he is widely regarded as an outstanding leader who develops tough, competitive teams and cares deeply about his student-athletes," Currie said.

Tennessee Chancellor Beverly Davenport issued a statement saying, "I deeply regret the events of yesterday for everyone involved." Davenport added that "the university remains steadfast in its commitment to excellence, and I look forward to John Currie continuing the search" for a new coach.

The school and Schiano were close to an agreement Sunday before the deal fell apart after heavy criticism from fans, state lawmakers and gubernatorial candidates. Their complaints stemmed from Schiano's background as an assistant at Penn State during Jerry Sandusky's tenure as the Nittany Lions' defensive coordinator. Sandusky is serving 30 to 60 years in prison for his conviction on 45 counts of sexual abuse.

Court documents released last year of a deposition in a case related to the Sandusky scandal suggested Schiano might have been aware of Sandusky's sexual abuse against children, though Schiano has said he never saw abuse or had any reason to suspect it while working at Penn State.

Currie said Tennessee "carefully interviewed and vetted" Schiano and that the former Rutgers and Tampa Bay Buccaneers coach "received the highest recommendations."

Tennessee Gov. Bill Haslam said he wasn't involved in the search but added that he doesn't "think anybody looks at the way everything came down yesterday and says that's the way it should happen."

Haslam also said his brother, Cleveland Browns owner Jimmy Haslam, wasn't playing an instrumental role in the search. Jimmy Haslam was part of the search committee that assisted in the hiring of Currie this year.

"I do think we should all be concerned about a rush to judgment," Bill Haslam said.

Currie said Schiano wasn't mentioned in the 2012 report on the Sandusky scandal led by former FBI director Louis Freeh and "was not one of the more than 400 people interviewed in the investigation." Currie also said Schiano was never asked to testify in any criminal or civil matter.

Currie said Tennessee officials conferred with Ohio State officials who conducted their own investigation after the 2016 document release.

HEALTH SURVEY 2017

The Department of Human and Social Services and the Department of Health are working together to conduct a very important survey in the community.

This entails surveying a selection of adults ages 18 and older from each county. Adults will be selected based upon a random sample of electric meters of households throughout the island.

Representatives in blue will be out to identify electric meters, collect vitals signs and other information that relate to general and mental health.

By taking this survey, you are helping to paint a picture of health for our people.

If you are selected to participate, please help us to address the health needs of American Samoa by consenting to take part in the survey. For more information contact DHSS at 633-1157 or DOH at 633-1602.

Villages to be surveyed: Fagatogo, Utulei, Gataivai, Fagaalu, Malaeimi, Mapusaga, Mesepa, Nu'uuli & Tafuna.

TELL ME A STORY: THE MANGO TEACHER

(A THAILAND FOLKTALE)
adapted by Amy Friedman and illustrated by Meredith Johnson

Once upon a time, a young man named Sunan was traveling aimlessly when he came upon an old beggar at the side of a lonely road. Sunan’s heart went out to the man. He stopped and said, “Sir, I have little, but I wish to share my bread and water with you. Eat heartily.”

The beggar ate, and when he was finished, Sunan bowed and prepared to leave, but the man seized his hand. “Wait, I wish to thank you properly for your generosity. I offer you a magic spell that will be useful to you.”

Sunan was skeptical, but he could not say no, and so the beggar gave him the magic words. “Say these words and you will grow any kind of fruit you wish at any time. But take care to follow all my directions.”

He went on to explain that Sunan must be sure to carry a bowl of water when he recited the spell, and he must blow on it afterward and pour the water on the root of the tree.

“If you know this spell, why are you starving?” Sunan asked, but the man simply closed his eyes and said this: “Please, just listen. Respect my wishes for the rest of your life, or the spell will be broken.”

“I will,” Sunan said, and he went on his way.

A few days passed when Sunan entered a great city, and as he was walking down the main street, he heard trumpets sounding and men shouting, “The king is making an announcement today!”

He hurried to follow the crowd to the steps and found the king’s wise men standing there. “The king wishes to give a reward to anyone who can bring the queen a mango.”

This was late autumn, and everyone knew there were no mangos growing anywhere, but when Sunan heard these words, he thought of the beggar and his magic spell.

“I will find a mango for the queen!” he cried.

The wise men smiled. “Very well,” they said. “And where will you find this mango?”

Sunan said, very calmly, “Take me to the palace garden, and bring me a bowl of water, and I shall have a mango for the queen.”

The wise men shook their heads, but what could they do? They led Sunan to the palace garden, and there they gave him a bowl of water. Sunan recited the spell, and just as the beggar had instructed him, he blew on the water.

A moment later, a mango tree in the garden began to bloom with fresh, ripe fruit. Sunan was careful to pour the water over the roots.

The wise men were amazed, the queen was overjoyed, and she and the king handsomely rewarded Sunan. Delighted, he no longer needed to wander, and so he settled in the city and was frequently a guest at the palace. Whenever the queen wanted a mango, she turned to Sunan, and always he was able to recite his spell and satisfy the queen’s desire.

One day the king said to Sunan, “Who taught you this spell?”

Sunan felt suddenly shy; he did not want to confess that he had learned from a poor beggar. It seemed beneath him. And so he said, “My teacher was a holy man who lives deep in the forest. He taught me many things.”

A few days later the king’s servants came to see Sunan. “The queen requests more mangos,” they said, and Sunan hurried to the palace.

As always, he walked to the garden, lifted his bowl of water, and recited the magical spell. The queen eagerly waited for the fruit to appear on the tree, but nothing happened.

“Why are there no mangos growing?” the king shouted at Sunan.

Sunan looked at the ground, ashamed to admit the truth to the king. Now he understood that he had not kept his promise to his teacher. He had neglected to honor and respect him, and he would pay for it.

“I lied to you,” he told the king. “It wasn’t a holy man who taught me the spell. It was only an old beggar, and he has taken my power from me because of my lie.”

“No one lies to me!” the king cried. He ordered Sunan to return all the gifts he and the queen had bestowed on him and commanded him to leave the city.

Once again Sunan was only a poor wanderer, but he had learned a lesson he would never forget. Now as he traveled, he looked for teachers in everyone and found wisdom in the most surprising people. After that day he remembered, always, to honor every teacher he met.

Oklahoma RB Anderson a priority for TCU defense

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma running back Rodney Anderson's rise from two season-ending injuries to become one of the nation's most productive backs has surprised even those closest to him. The redshirt sophomore suffered a knee injury early in the 2015 season and a neck injury in fall camp in 2016, and he didn't even start the first half of this season. Since Oct. 21 against Kansas State, his first game in a featured role, he leads Power Five players and is second nationally with 1,041 yards from scrimmage.

Oklahoma left tackle Orlando Brown knew Anderson was talented but he didn't foresee this explosion.

"Straight up. I didn't expect it," Brown, an Outland Trophy finalist, said. "I told him, 'Man, I didn't think you were completely capable of this.' Obviously, he was able to get over his injury, and he's came a long way and he's only going to get better. Have a ton of respect for him. I was wrong."

In the game that pushed him into the spotlight, Anderson gained 290 yards from scrimmage and scored four touchdowns during a 38-20 win over TCU. He will be a priority for TCU's defense in the rematch when his second-ranked Sooners (11-1, 8-1 Big 12) face the 10th-ranked Horned Frogs (10-2, 7-2) in the Big 12 Championship game Saturday at AT&T Stadium.

"We've got to tackle the running backs," TCU coach Gary Patterson said.

Witness: Exec said Qatar had up to $15M available for bribes

NEW YORK (AP) — The former president of Colombia's soccer federation testified Monday that a sports marketing executive told him up to $15 million in bribe money was available for South American officials from Qatari interests ahead of the FIFA executive committee vote to decide the site of the 2022 World Cup.

Taking the witness stand as the trial of three former soccer officials entered its third week, Luis Bedoya said he was introduced to a Qatari television representative by Mariano Jinkis of Full Play Group during a meeting in a Madrid hotel ahead of the 2010 Champions League final. Bedoya said he could not recall the name of the Qatari.

Jinkis said Luis Chiriboga, then president of Ecuador's federation, was with them, and Juan Angel Napout, then president of Paraguay's soccer federation, was at an adjacent table. Bedoya testified that he, Napout and Chiriboga were among six heads of South American governing bodies who earlier had agreed to accept bribes from Full Play for signing a marketing and broadcast rights contract in 2010 for future Copa America tournaments.

Bedoya said the Qatari spoke in English as Jinkis translated. Bedoya said after the Qatari left, Jinkis stated that Qatar was seeking South American support in the FIFA executive committee and "he could ask for $10 million or $15 million and he could divide it up between all of the people in the group of six." Bedoya said Jinkis added "each of us could make $1 million or $1.5 million."

While none of the six was on the FIFA executive committee for the 2010 vote, Jinkis said Qataris wanted to influence South America's three voters: Julio Grondona of Argentina, Nicolas Leoz of Paraguay and Ricardo Teixeira of Brazil.

Bedoya said that later that year, he presented Eduardo Deluca of Argentina, the general secretary of the South American confederation CONMEBOL, with a letter stating that the Colombia Football Federation was supporting Spain in the vote for 2018 World Cup host and the United States for 2022. Bedoya said Deluca told him: "You're always with losers."

In a December 2010 vote, Russia was awarded the 2018 tournament and Qatar 2022. Bedoya said Jinkis later told him jokingly:

THE LAST WORD IN ASTROLOGY

Happy Birthday: Use your imagination to come up with new ways to exhibit your talents and attributes this year. Physical improvements should be your goal, along with better relationships with those you live with or deal with daily. A career change or upgrading your qualifications will bring about positive changes and new friendships with like-minded individuals. Use discipline to curb emotional setbacks. Your numbers are 6, 17, 23, 27, 32, 41, 46.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Emotions will rise to the surface. Before you say something, make sure you have your facts straight or it may affect your relationship with someone important. Preparation and detail will make a difference. ***

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be brave and tuck your emotions away someplace safe. Refuse to let anyone goad you into revealing information that is better kept a secret. Observation, assessing situations and looking for unique solutions will turn a negative into a positive. ***

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You can make a difference if you join forces with others who feel the same way you do about what's going on in your community. Don't sell yourself short. Take a leadership position and offer intelligent solutions to existing problems. ****

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Your emotions will kick in and cause havoc if you bring about too many changes. Don't let the actions of others unnerve you or cost you time and money. Stay focused on what's important and finish what you start. **

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Business trips, educational pursuits and meetings are favored. Your knowledge and responsible attitude will grab the attention of someone who can make a difference in your life. Explore your interests and you'll find a way to make money doing something you love. ****

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Look over your financial situation and make adjustments that will encourage you to save more and spend less. Don't let anyone put demands on you that will restrict your ability to get ahead. Stay focused on taking care of your responsibilities. ***

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Don't mix emotions with business. You have to stay alert and ready to take on new challenges. Being responsible will help you overcome any obstacle that comes your way. Trust your intelligence to outmaneuver any competition you face. ***

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Personal improvements, self-awareness and exploring your options are highlighted. Don't hold back -- when you see something you want, take the initiative to pursue your goal. Love and romance are on the rise and will enrich your life. ****

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Don't give in to emotional mind games or anyone trying to make your life difficult. Bring about positive changes and surround yourself with people who offer support and hands-on help. **

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Take pride in the way you look and how you present who you are and what you do to others. The more marketable you are, the easier it will be to gain support. Romance is in the stars. ****

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Do what you can to help others, but don't let anyone trick you into taking on responsibilities that don't belong to you. Bring about changes by voicing your opinion and collaborating with people who are as interested in improvement as you are. ***

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Don't let what others do or say lead to a spat. Listen and reflect, but don't give in to someone trying to coerce you into a debate. Stay focused on personal gains and self-improvement. Take health issues into your own hands. ***

Dear Abby

by Abigail Van Buren

YOUNG COUPLE SEEM TO CLICK BETTER WHEN THEY'RE APART

DEAR ABBY: I have been with my boyfriend for two years. When I'm with him, I often find him annoying and think we have nothing in common. But when we are apart, I miss him a lot -- especially when one of us travels for work.

When we're apart and talk on the phone, we have amazing conversations and discuss a future together. But when we're together, we don't talk as much, and he never mentions a future together.

I'm confused. Is this normal for relationships? I don't want to stay in a relationship that isn't going anywhere, and it has been like this since pretty early on. How can I know if I should invest more of my time or if I should end it and move on? -- PERPLEXED IN VIRGINIA

DEAR PERPLEXED: If neither of you is particularly talkative and there are a lot of distractions when you are together, then it's normal. When you are apart, it's possible that you miss -- and idealize -- each other, which is why those conversations about a future happen. The way to determine whether you should invest more time in this relationship would be to ASK him, and just as plainly as you addressed that question to me.

DEAR ABBY: Could you please print this on behalf of delivery people everywhere? Folks: Please make sure your address is visible from the street.

I can't tell you how many times I have had to drive up and down a street trying to figure out which house I'm supposed to deliver to. Sometimes, I can see the number on the curb. But many times, it's impossible to spot -- and I deliver during the day. I can only begin to imagine how hard it is for couriers who deliver at night. So do us a favor. Make sure your house number is visible from the street. -- WENDY IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR WENDY: I'm glad you wrote. People in your profession are not the only ones who struggle with this problem. I have also heard from fire and emergency personnel complaining about the same issue when the situation wasn't just inconvenient, but life-threatening. Readers, please take a moment to walk to the curb and see if your street address is visible. Fixing the problem could be as simple as trimming some bushes.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been arguing over whether food must be covered while it's being heated in the microwave. I always cover it because it takes little effort and prevents splatters. He refuses, unless the food is very saucy or greasy. When I ask why he won't do it, he has no answer.

It would be one thing if he routinely cleaned the microwave, but he never does, leaving me to do it. This has caused shouting matches between us. How can we settle this, short of throwing away the microwave? -- UNCOVERED OUT WEST

DEAR UNCOVERED: Do not toss out a perfectly good microwave over this issue. Praise your husband when he covers the saucy/greasy foods, and remember to throw a paper towel over his dinner when he "forgets."
